U.S. Income Tax Information

The dividends paid in 2023 from the BBH Partner Fund - International Equity will be reported in Box 1a on your Form 1099-DIV and is considered an ordinary dividend for federal income tax purposes. The amount shown in Box 1b is qualified dividend income and may be subject to a reduced tax rate.

The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 (TCJA) retained preferential rates on qualified dividends and the 3.8% net investment tax. The TCJA separated the tax-rate thresholds for dividend income from the tax brackets for ordinary income for taxpayers with higher income and is capped at 20%. The rate on qualified dividends applies to dividends paid by most domestic and foreign corporations to BBH Partner Fund - International Equity which were held by the Fund for at least 61 days during the 121-day period beginning 60 days before the stock's ex-dividend date. In order to claim this reduced rate of tax on qualified dividends, you, as a shareholder, must also satisfy the holding period requirements mentioned previously. Therefore, you must determine if your shares in the Fund have been held for at least 61 days during the 121-day period beginning 60 days before the Fund's ex-dividend date (please refer to table above for ex-dividend dates) to determine the amount of qualified dividend income shown in Box 1b that may be subject to a reduced maximum tax rate. If you should determine that any of the qualified dividend income shown in Box 1b is no longer qualified due to holding period violations of your shares, the dividend income will not be subject to the reduced maximum tax rate and should be reported with other non-qualified dividend income.

The BBH Partner Fund - International Equity has elected under section 853 of the Internal Revenue Code to pass through to its shareholders the opportunity to claim foreign taxes withheld as either a credit or a deduction. Therefore, you are deemed to have paid directly the foreign taxes included in Box 6 on your Form 1099-DIV. A foreign tax credit will generally result in a direct reduction in your U.S. tax liability, subject to certain limitations.

As a result of the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997, individuals who choose to claim a credit and have less than $300 of creditable taxes ($600 for married couples filing jointly) and no foreign source income other than passive income, may elect to claim the foreign tax credit for these amounts directly on Schedule 3 of Form 1040 and are not required to file Form 1116 with their tax return. When making the election to claim the foreign tax credit without filing Form 1116, you must enter directly on Schedule 3 of Form 1040 the smaller of (a) your total foreign tax or (b) your regular tax from Form 1040, line 12a. You will be required to file Form 1116 to claim a tax credit if you have amounts in excess of those stated above or have other foreign taxes not reported on Form 1099-DIV. For corporations, Form 1118 must be completed to claim a foreign tax credit. If you choose to deduct your foreign taxes, they must be reported on Schedule A of your Form 1040 as an itemized deduction.

The information contained within the table below will assist you in calculating the information necessary to claim either a credit or itemized deduction. While it may not be necessary in order to substantiate the credit, if you would like to calculate your foreign source income by country, multiply your ordinary dividends (Box 1a of Form 1099-DIV) by each factor shown in the 'Foreign Income Factor' column. To calculate your foreign taxes paid by country, multiply your foreign taxes paid (Box 7 of Form 1099-DIV) by each factor shown in the 'Foreign Tax Factor' column.
